

Lihle and Lwandle in spring

Tebogo Matshana

Tebogo Matshana

Lihle and Lwandle are in the Northern Cape to visit their cousin, Lina.

Lina takes them to see flowers in an area called Namaqualand.

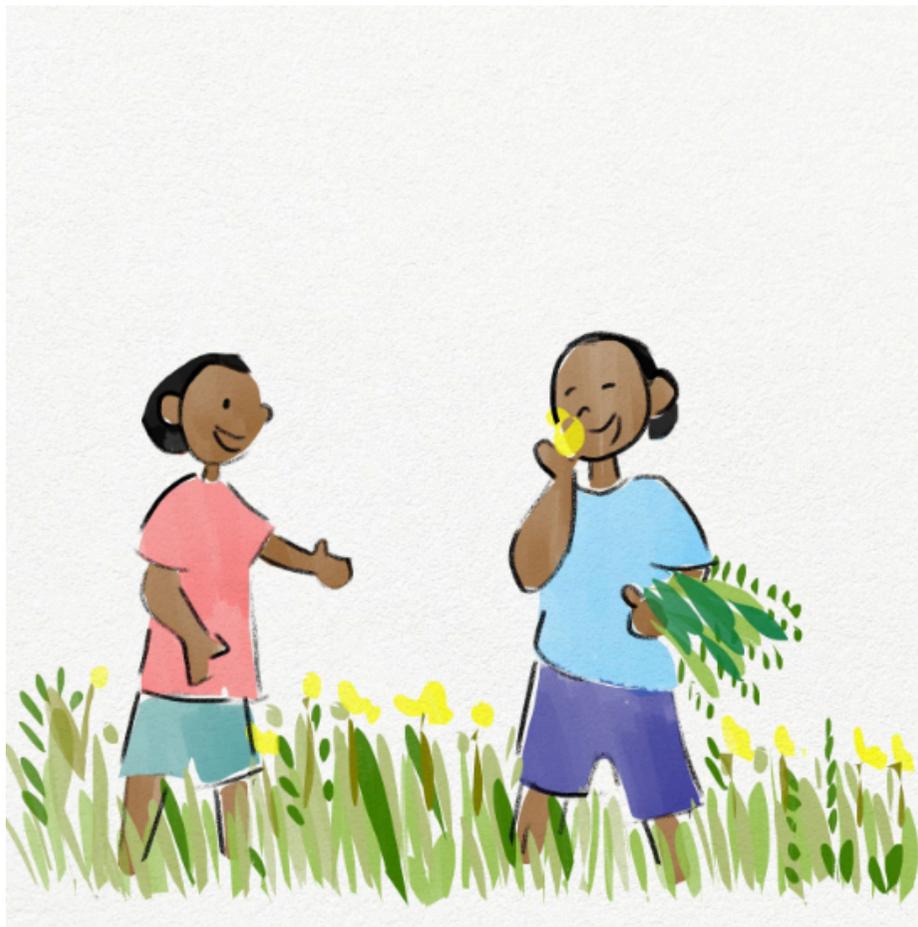

“The ground is covered with bright colours!” exclaims Lwandle.

Lina smiles, “At the start of spring, many flowers bloom here.”

Lina continues, "After rain, and as temperatures begin to rise, flowers grow everywhere.

For a short time, this dry land changes to fields of flowers."

“In spring, our mother plants seeds in the garden. Who planted flowers here?” asks Lwandle.

Lina responds, “They are wild flowers, no one planted them.”

“Namaqualand has many different types of plants, animals, and insects,” says Lina.

“I think the word for that is ‘biodiversity’,” says Lihle.

“Yes, biodiversity is when there are many different types of living things in one place,” replies Lina.

“Biodiversity in nature creates healthy environments,” says Lihle.

The girls walk past a shepherd.

“Baaaa!” the sheep bleat. “Baaaa!” the girls chorus.

“Many lambs are born in spring,” notices Lihle.

“In spring, many animals give birth, or hatch eggs,” agrees Lina.

“I love baby animals! Exactly when does spring start?” asks Lwandle.

“It’s difficult to be exact with the seasons.

But, we generally see the first signs of spring here in September,” responds Lina.

“The weather starts to get warmer, and rain falls,” says Lina.

“Then, for a short time, the desert becomes a garden of wildflowers,” smiles Lihle.

—Questions

1. Where are Lihle and Lwandle?
Find the place on a map.
2. What season is it in the story?
3. What happens in this season?
4. Is spring the same or different where you live?
Explain.
5. What do plants need to grow?
6. Which season do you like most? Why?

Ulwazi Lwethu is a Zenex Foundation funded and initiated project to develop a series of graded and leisure African language readers and teacher support materials. This project is targeted at teaching and supporting learners in the Foundation Phase to improve their home language reading and understanding. The readers have been originated in nine African languages in collaboration with Molteno Institute for Language and Literacies, Nelson Mandela Institute for Education and Rural Development, Room to Read South Africa, and Saide. All resources are developed as Open Education Resources (OER).

Your attribution should include the following:

Title: Lihle and Lwandle in spring

Author/s: Tebogo Matshana

Translator/s: Tebogo Matshana

Illustrator/s: Tebogo Matshana

Assurer/s: African Storybook

Language: English

© Zenex Foundation - Saide 2023

CC BY includes the following elements:

BY  - Credit must be given to the creator

